Notice of the end of sales of “fo.Q” and “Modrate” products

Dear Sir/Madam

We hope you are well.

We would like to express our gratitude for your continued support.

Our company's audio accessory business has sold the “fo.Q” and “Modrate” products for more than 20 years.

This was due solely to your helpful support so we offer our deep gratitude.

However, we regret to inform you that we have judged it will be difficult to continue sales of audio accessory products due to various circumstances, as the prices of raw materials increase and the business environment becomes harsher.

Remaining sales will be limited to the stock, and sales will end once these products are sold out.

We also have the following deadline for any products that remain in stock, at which time all sales of these products will end.

Final shipments of sold products: August 31, 2023 (Thursday)

We apologize sincerely for any inconvenience caused to customers while you are using these products regularly.

Our company will continue to respond with sincerity in future and asks you to please understand the circumstances.

Kind regards
